The CR-02 is a little more compact and easier to use as you can take the die out, mount and then put it back in... but unfortunately we don't have a de-crimping die available for that model and we only have that for the CR-01... the only alternative if you preferred the 02 would be to provide a separate independent Japanese de-crimper, but it's fairly expensive, in the order of €4000+ euro.
